Michelangelo was once asked "HOW DO YOU PRODUCE STATUES THAT ARE SO FULL OF LIFE?"

"THE ROUGH MARBLE ALREADY CONTAINS THE STATUES",
Michelangelo said, "IT IS JUST A MATTER OF EXTRACTING THEM".

There is already a fine lawyer in you - Help us to chisel it.

NALSAR is a place for building future in Legal Education...

NALSAR mandates a forward movement in attaining higher goals; noble ideals; social responsibilities one should have in his/her life. NALSAR imbues in the students a commitment to life with core values, understanding of diversity, public interest, social justice and acquisition of highest professional skills.

NALSAR's primary mission, is creation of able, competent and humane lawyers, who on entering the Bar and the Bench would be well equipped to address effectively the imperatives of the new millennium.

Mission

Welcome to NALSAR

NALSAR as an institution constantly metamorphoses the face of legal education, thereby culminating into a confluence of thought, knowledge and practices to facilitate the fullest development of the individual. Established with a mandate to impart knowledge that equips and empowers an individual to take charge of the world around him or her, we have hitherto realised the same, by fostering and internalisation of values that make legal education stand out significantly from the rest. Our nation requires a lot to be done in terms of rejuvenating the legal mentality so as to tackle several contemporary issues of national and international importance, and I envision my students to emerge as people having a hand in triggering the shift.

At NALSAR, we sincerely intend and endeavour to bridge the sinister gap between knowledge and theory through the efforts of the Faculty that make the learning process interesting, participative, stimulative, multi-dimensional and dynamic. Our emphasis on research has resulted in various Centres of Excellence involved in work in different areas of relevance. We have international faculty and student exchange programmes on a continuing basis. Workshops, research projects and conferences constantly help NALSAR open up diverse avenues, perspectives with a broadened vision and horizons.

Here at NALSAR, we offer a lot and we expect a lot. But if you have the commitment, the ability and the motivation, you can expect amazing rewards, exhilarating intellectual satisfaction and a capability much sought after, by employers in industry, academia and the Bar. The constant drive, unadulterated by extraneous influences, and savoured by single-minded focus could fetch you the best of results amidst the best of places in today's world where survival of the fittest is the mantra. Our graduating students enjoy an outstanding placement rate because the Bar, Law Firms, Corporations and Government agencies know that our Graduates are equipped with problem solving techniques and practical hands-on lawyering skills.

Whether the need is in the emerging context of globalisation, or delivering intellectual capital for a just India, we are committed in more ways than one. Visiting faculty and the untiring encouragement from the Bar aids in making NALSAR the ideal preparatory ground for the finest citizens tomorrow shall see. The facilities at "Justice City" are indeed enviable. Fifty acres of serene and open environs, simultaneously equipped with State-of-the-art facilities. A Library which is a virtual storehouse of knowledge that a law student could aspire for, coupled with an Internet Centre, Wi-Fi campus, which provides access to the richest databases across the globe pertaining to a myriad of wide-ranging realms of legal research. An ultra-modern Gym with the latest equipment provides ideal environs for physical work-out. State-of-the-art facilities for games like Basket-ball, Table-Tennis, Lawn-Tennis, Foot-ball and Cricket exist.

Our emphasis on discipline is unrelenting. Students have their own space but with all the requisite checks and balances. Boys and girls have separate hostels with 24 Hour internet facility in each hostel room. Each Hostel has a common room, equipped with a T.V. and facilities for indoor games. There is a common Dinning Hall. Being a residential campus, most facilities are at the disposal of students. Our task and endeavour is to provide the right platform and to guide students to windows of opportunities. I have absolutely no doubt when I say that NALSAR is a modern Gurukul. Once you join, let me assure you that your stint at the institution will not merely be a degree acquiring experience; it would be intellectually stimulating and life changing experience. Think ahead in legal education; join NALSAR family for an exciting professional and personal growth.

With best wishes,

Overview

NALSAR's curriculum is inspired by the UGC Curriculum Development Committee (CDC) Report. Recommendations of the CDC have been updated to bring them in consonance with globalising India, pluralism and social integration and to weave in concerns of poverty, gender and disability into the legal curriculum. To aid practical appreciation of issues, Clinical Legal Education is an integral component of the course curriculum, which also promotes inter-disciplinarity and integration between Law, Social Sciences and Humanities.

Teaching Methodology

In order to develop professional skills in budding lawyers, NALSAR imparts instruction in simulated settings such as Moot Courts. Individual and one to one interaction is encouraged. Each student has a Faculty Advisor, who is a counsellor for curricular as well as co-curricular activities.

Study materials accompany instructions in each course to promote intensive and interactive learning. Instructions are given through lectures, seminars, group and individual tutorials. Skills of reading, research, analysis, writing and speaking are developed through project assignments and presentations. Collaborative teaching is undertaken in some courses to maximise on available expertise and to promote inter-disciplinary understanding.

Code of Conduct & Academic Responsibility

The University takes a pro-active position on all matters relating to professional growth and an appropriate Code of Conduct for the entire University Community - Students, Faculty and Non-Teaching Staff is in place.

Our expectation is that all members of the NALSAR family will observe decorum in all their relations with each other. The University also recognises the indispensability of statutory provisions in this regard.

In furtherance of its commitment to an environment of honesty, fairness and mutual respect, NALSAR takes serious cognisance of acts of misconduct that include cheating in academic exercises, plagiarism, misrepresentation and interference of any kind in the access of fellow students to University services, among others.

The Code of Conduct and Academic Responsibility consisting of substantive and procedural provisions to sanction disciplinary action against derogatory acts on the part of any member of the University community is a part of NALSAR's policy.

Tuned in Faculty

Teachers at NALSAR build bridges for students to support them across trying times both in and out of the classroom. Outside class, these times could be connected to economic hardship, emotional turmoil, English language difficulties, confusion about career choices or diversified counselling for appropriate and reachable career goals. In class, there is a constant dialogue with students on issues of contemporary concern and curricula constantly match the changing times.

Library & Information Services

It is necessary to have not just a library but a rich library that meets the specific requirements of aspiring professionals and dedicated teachers. In an attempt to bridge distance and maximise access to law related literature, NALSAR is proud of its fully automated library that provides extensive access to a range of resources.

Disability Access

With a high priority on affirmative action across the range, NALSAR is very conscious of the need to build disability access into all its facilities; building, research, outreach and library resources. In tune with the UGC mandate, NALSAR has provided resources and access in Braille.

Diversity is our Strength.

Research

Research enables learning, teaching and sound policy-making process. Research programmes at NALSAR aim at providing directions for policy making on child rights, co-parcenary rights for women, environment protection and to establish wide-ranging partnerships with different stakeholders across the country to influence formulation of policy, strengthening criminal justice and human rights. Research is our pride and our standards are exacting.

International Exchange Programmes

Travel widens horizons and we travel extensively even while being rooted intellectually. Faculty and Student Exchange Programmes are in place with Universities in Australia, Germany, Canada, U.K., U.S.A., Singapore, Switzerland, Israel and The Netherlands and those under discussion in the SAARC. These have helped us to connect globally and regionally, bringing diverse concerns into intellectual life at NALSAR.

Surroundings

Expansive, serene and open, needless to say with the Faculty living on the Campus there is a great sense of safety, guidance and security - a home away from home. The Justice City Campus of NALSAR University is located on the Hyderabad-Karimnagar Highway at Shameerpet, 25 kilometres from the Secunderabad Railway Station, about 70 kilometres from Rajiv Gandhi International Airport, Shamshabad (Hyderabad) with a City Office at Barkatpura, Hyderabad.

Placement Programmes

Internship:

The objectives of the University are motivated by the goal of producing socially responsible lawyers. Social responsibility cannot be taught, it has to be learnt. The University, hence, devises programmes that will bridge the gap between classroom and social reality. The Placement Programme of the University is one such effort.

Foreign students on exchange programme at NALSAR

Students of the B.A., LL.B.(Hons.) Course are placed with Non-Governmental Organisations, National and International Institutions and Organisations, Lawyers, Law Firms, the Office of the Attorney General of India, and Solicitor General of India, New Delhi, UN Organisations in New Delhi and Hon'ble Judges of the Supreme Court and High Courts. The placement is arranged by the University by liaising with these Organisations and finding out the requirements of the Organisation, the expectations from the students and the extent to which these expectations could be fulfilled. Before placements students are given orientation towards the set up and activities of the Organisations. After internship is over, the students submit their reports to the University and these reports are taken into account for next internships with such organisations. The international opportunities secured by the students include assignments with Law Firms like Herbert Smith LLP, UK; Clifford Chance LLP UK; Morgan & Walker LLP UK.

Graduates of NALSAR

Mr. Aditya Swarup, a student of Final Year of B.A., LL.B.(Hons.) won the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship for pursuing Master's at the Oxford University, U.K. In a decade since its establishment 1998, the University has produced three Rhodes Scholars and many other students won other prestigious Scholarships to pursue their studies in some of the best Universities abroad. In 2010, Ms. Ruchira Goel received the Inlachs Scholarship to study at New York University and Mr. Prasan Dhar received the Felix Scholarship to study at Oxford.

Seven batches of students have graduated from the University so far. Several NALSAR graduates have either completed or currently pursuing higher studies in well known and reputed foreign Universities which include: Harvard Law School (U.S.A.); Duke University Law School (U.S.A.); Leiden University (The Netherlands); Oxford University (U.K.); London School of Economics (U.K.); Cardiff University (U.K.); Warwick University (U.K.); King's College (U.K.); SOAS (U.K.); Cardozo Law School (U.S.A.); Michigan Law School (U.S.A.); North Western University (U.S.A.); University of North Carolina (U.S.A.); Arkansas University (U.S.A.); Michigan State University (U.S.A.); Columbia University (U.S.A.); Missouri University (U.S.A.); Case Western Reserve University (U.S.A.); Dalhousie University (Canada); Mc Gill University (Canada); School of Diplomacy, (Geneva); University of Dundee, (Scotland) and University of Vienna, (Austria).

Recruitment

The graduating students enjoy an outstanding placement record because Law Firms, Corporates and Government Agencies know that NALSAR graduates are equipped with problem solving techniques and practical hands-on lawyering skills.

Recruitment Process at NALSAR is managed by the students, through a Committee known as "Recruitment Coordination Committee (RCC)". The RCC Executive comprises of 9 members selected by a peer election process whose primary goal is to facilitate the recruitment of students of the Final Year. The role of RCC is to provide smooth interaction between students and prospective employers which it seeks to do by facilitating internships and on-Campus recruitment. Ultimately, the success of the RCC as a body is evidenced by the fact that in the past students from NALSAR have been successfully absorbed by the best Firms, Corporate Houses and Non-Governmental Organisations both in India and abroad.

Recruitment process

The Global Recruitment Programme (GRP) is the culmination of 5 gruelling years at Law School. At NALSAR, the winter internships and the GRP are entirely arranged and coordinated by the student body itself and thus, the terms and process of recruitment varies from batch to batch. Year after year Organisations have expressed their satisfaction at being part of the recruitment programme. Students at NALSAR continue to surpass the expectations of the recruiters and bring to the table a diverse skill set that make them an asset to any Organisation they choose to join. Recruitments at NALSAR are primarily a two step process. First, all Organisations are invited to give a Pre-Placement Talk at the University. These talks provide valuable information and insight as regards the organisational profile. They also offer an excellent opportunity for Recruiters to visit our Campus and interact with top notch Faculty and Students.

The second step of the GRP is the Final Placement. Recruiters are welcome to follow their own recruitment process broadly within the framework of the Group Discussion, Case studies, Written Tests and Personal Interviews. The RCC works to ensure that final recruitment is conducted in a fair and organised manner so as to maximise the interests of both Recruiters and Students. Centre Head: Prof. M. Sridhar Acharyulu,
MHRD IP Chair Professor

The concept of wealth and the methods of processing wealth have been changing over time. At present 'Technology' is one of the most important 'wealth accumulator' and a means by which wealth is possessed. Since international business is technology-centred, it is imperative to develop an appropriate legal regime to meet the challenges of the global economy. India is making great strides in technology development and utilisation. In terms of human resources and availability of scientists, India ranks among the top five nations. With India becoming a member of the WTO and the consequent rationalisation of reforms in Intellectual Property Laws, it is necessary to develop research and advocacy skills to consolidate and improve Indian business advantage for individuals, communities and corporations.

Dr. S.P. Chatterjee Centre for Environmental Law Studies

Centre Head: Dr. K. Vidyullatha Reddy,
Associate Professor of Law

Environmental Law as a branch of study is of recent origin and has acquired an unprecedented urgency in the wake of environmental crisis faced by the world. The urgency is manifold in the case of developing countries with the pressure on natural resources to feed impoverished population on the one hand and to work towards a sustainable environmental policy on the other. The challenge for the Environmental legal regime in Indian context is to work towards a sustainable environmental policy. Law Schools have an important role to play in sensitising the students on issues of environment and the need for appropriate intervention through effective laws. It is also important to carry out continuous research and advocacy on emerging issues. This requires experiential learning of issues in real life and to work towards solutions through legislation.

Legal Aid Cell

(Incharge : Dr. K. Vidyullatha Reddy, Associate Professor)

Legal Aid Cell aims to provide free legal services to the poor and needy, creating awareness among the people about their rights and helping the litigants in all possible ways. The Constitution of the Committee for the Implementation of Legal Aid Schemes (CILAS) in 1980 was a major step in institutionalising the concept of 'Legal Aid' in India. The Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, displaced the CILAS and introduced a hierarchy of Judicial and Administrative Agencies. The LSAA was enforced only eight years later, under the directions of the Supreme Court. It led to the constitution of the National Legal Services Authority (NALSA) at the Centre and a State Legal Services Authority in the States to give effect to its directions. The provisions for legal aid are incorporated in Article 39-A of the Constitution of India.

The Legal Aid Cell, at NALSAR University of Law, is a small initiative on the part of the students to spread legal awareness and facilitate easy access to legal assistance to the poor and the needy.

The aim of Legal Aid is implicit in the broader objectives of NALSAR with a mandate to prepare lawyers who are technically sound, professionally competent and socially relevant.

The mandate of the Cell includes:

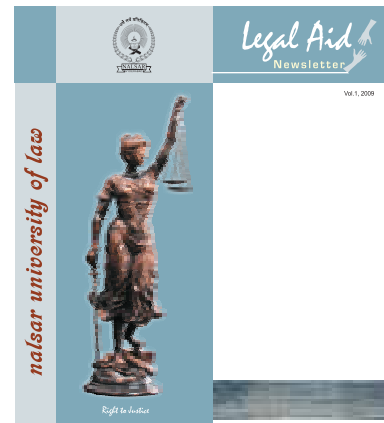

- ◆ Documentation of the legal aid material available in the University;
- ◆ Preparing a list of persons/ advocates/ alumni who would be willing to render possible help to the needy;
- ◆ Conducting pro-bono and public policy oriented research, and increasingly take part in and help coordinate projects in association with other organisations;
- ◆ Undertaking field visits and work in coordination with NGOs and the Officials who are concerned with task at hand. The Cell will try to mediate between parties wherever possible. In other cases the Cell will help the needy to search for a lawyer and following up the case.

The Cell publishes its Annual Newsletter titled 'Legal Aid Updates'.

Activities during 2009-10:

- ◆ Workshop for prisoners of Cherlapally Jail on 18th April, 2009.

To develop more symbiotic relationship with our tech savvy patrons, we have enabled a feature in the software through which students can also log into their account to view the books that are overdue and fine amount. There is a proposal to introduce real time technology based reference chat service. Students would be encouraged to query the library staff from anywhere in the Campus and seek answers. This step would certainly position us in the heart of online community.

Student Initiatives

The Summons

'The Summons' is an Annual Inter-University Fest that NALSAR organises. This three-day fest sees a host of events, ranging from quizzes to Antakshari, sports events, the Parliamentary Debate and dance competitions thrown in for good measure. It attracts many Teams from various Law Universities and Colleges and the number is increasing over the years.

Three days of fun, excitement and much random pandemonium (although in a good way). There is also lots of prize money. We kid you not.....

Carpe Diem

Carpe Diem is the Annual Intra-College Fest. For NALSAR students, by NALSAR students, with only NALSAR students. The Fest encompasses much of the Cultural, Literary, Public Speaking and Sports Spectrum. The crowd favourite certainly being the Tug-of-War Championship, with the winning class getting (aside from the prize) bragging rights and bruised hands. Basically a chance for NALSAR students to forget about the law and put up brightly coloured paper all over the place.....

The Student Bar Council

In order to promote co-curricular activities and to encourage student participation in administration and management of the affairs of the University, NALSAR constituted its first Student Bar Council in July, 2000.

The Council is constituted every year by a joint method of election and nomination for the eight functional Committees namely: Academic; Cultural; Hostel and Campus Welfare; Literary & Debating; Mess and Hospitality; Moot

Each Committee consists of a General Body and an Executive Council. The General Body of each Committee consists of such students who opt to join the General Body of that functional Committee. However, no student should join the General Bodies of more than two Committees. The Executive Council of each Committee comprises five elected members one from each class of the B.A., LL.B. (Hons.). Each Committee has a Convenor. The Executive Council of the eight Functional Committees forms an Electoral Collegium which elects from amongst themselves five Office Bearers of the SBC.
